College of Arms.*]

Warner-Lee. The same Arms and Quarterings.*

Exemplified, 5th March, 1806, to Daniel-Henry Woodward, of Little Walsingham, Norfolk, and his two sons, the Rev. Daniel-Henry Woodward, and the Rev. James Woodward, who, by Act of Parliament of the 45th Geo. III. assumed the surname of Lee-Warner, instead of their surname of Woodward, in compliance with the will of Henry-Lee Warner, of Little Walsingham, aforesaid, Esq. deceased, in which will, the said Daniel-Henry Woodward, the father, is described as eldest son of Mary Woodward, daughter of the testator's aunt, Huntley. [Borne (with the Arms of Howe, viz. or, a fesse, betw. three wolves' heads, coupéd, sa. in the fourth quarter, and those of Woodward in the fifth, with an escocheon of pretence of the Arms of Howorth, described with the Coat of Woodward in its proper place,) by the said Daniel-Henry Lee-Warner, now of Walsingham-Abbey, Norfolk, Esq. 1827.] See Plate of Arms.

* Note.—The Arms and Crest are here properly described from the original grant in 1666, but in the exemplification, which passed at the Herald's College in 1806, the Coat and Crest of Lee are very erroneously described, although Bysshe's Grants and the Visitation of Kent, marked D. 18, are both referred to, as authorities for the bearing. The Field of the Arms in this exemplification is blazoned gu. instead of sa. and the fesse compony, instead of counter-compony. The Crest is likewise made gu. instead of sa. with the squirrel sitting betw. two branches of oak, which should have been hazel, making altogether a very different bearing, and in consequence of this blunder at the Herald's Office, the Arms on the monuments since erected in Walsingham church are erroneously depicted.
